

ChildCareBC savings for families

5 things to know

Starting December 1, 2022, families with kids in kindergarten and younger in eligible child care will save money on their monthly child care costs. Here's what families need to know:

- 1 Parents will see licensed child care costs cut by as much as $550 more every month for kids in kindergarten and younger.
- 2 96% of kids in eligible child care centres in BC qualify for these savings. Parents do not need to apply.
- 3 More parents will benefit from more $10 a Day child care spaces, which will nearly double by December 2022.
- 4 Families with income up to $111,000 per year can access the Affordable Child Care Benefit, which (when stacked with other fee cuts) could mean zero child care costs.
- 5 Parents with kids in kindergarten and younger will be paying an average of $21 a day for licensed child care by the end of 2022. That's down from an average of $53 a day before any ChildCareBC supports.

Savings on licensed child care fees are made possible through a partnership between the Government of British Columbia and the Government of Canada through the Canada-wide Early Learning and Child Care Agreement.
